LT express time, place and cause using prepositions

A preposition usually comes before a noun or a pronoun. It helps to tell us the position of one thing in relation to another in the sentence.

For example:

- The Iron Man stood at the top of the cliff.
- The wind sang through his iron fingers.

- Read at the sentences below.
- Identify the prepositions.
- Say whether are prepositions to indicate time, place or cause.

Mrs Bishop called the children across the room. They looked up from their work and immediately walked over. They always did as they were told since she had shouted at them the previous day.

Challenge yourself!

Write a preposition poem trying to use as many of the prepositions as you can from the word bank above:

Example:

brightly in the sky
The haze of light below
Sprinkles its glow around the Earth
The birds fly through the white puffy clouds
Whilst the trees beneath sway gently in the wind.
